MANAGERS' MESSAGE

Welcome to the autumn edition of the LMR newsletter. I hope the arable harvest is concluded by the time you read this. Thank you to all those who assisted other members with combining, baling, cultivations, drilling and labour supply to name just a few of the operations performed. It seems like it has been a typical English summer, although I sense that there wasn't too much crop drying to be done. Yields were average at best, which will make achieving a profit a challenge. Input costs have been particularly high whilst produce prices are uninspiring. The 2024 harvest should have lower input costs, but the financial pressure will still be high. Fortunately, there are actions you can take to reduce costs and improve efficiencies. Your LMR, is a vehicle moulded by farmers over 32 years to deliver savings and solutions to many of your farming and business enterprises. LMR is your business, owned by you, the members. Please consider how you could use it to your benefit. Many members use us to source their fuel. They benefit from LMR's scale and long-standing relationships with multiple fuel suppliers. This results in very competitive prices and high service levels. Similarly, significant volumes of lubricants and ad blue are sourced for farms at very competitive prices. Many members purchase wearing parts, filters, and workshop consumables through LMR to benefit from the generous discounts available through LMR group deals.

You can develop and strengthen your LMR by using it for your many and varied business inputs. I have highlighted a few, but the diversity of services available through the ring is impressive.

The more you use LMR the more you will benefit from enhanced savings and services. Your full engagement with LMR will ensure it is delivering savings and solutions for your businesses long into the future.

LMR is your business, led by you, for your benefit.

Engage, benefit & be stronger together.

That is only part of the LMR story. You the members offer a unique and diverse range of services to each other. Whether as farm contractors or as suppliers of goods and services, you provide fellow LMR members with cost effective and timely solutions. Using external contractors with specialist machinery and skilled operators is often the most efficient and least cost solution. Please call LMR to discuss how using contractors can benefit your business in these challenging times.

kindest regards

Andrew, Jayne & Viv

Waxing of gas oil

There are concerns that winter grade gas oil will be vulnerable to clouding and waxing at higher temperatures than in the past because the FAME (Fatty acid methyl ester) content has increased. Members are advised that it would be wise to empty tanks of summer grade gas oil before filling them with winter grade as the two do not blend in-tank to give protection to the whole quantity. Winter grade gas oil may require an additional anti-waxing additive to give protection to fuel where temperatures are below perhaps -5 degrees. Adding anti-wax additive to waxed fuel will not un-wax it. The gas oil needs to warm well above 0 degrees to un-wax itself (the pour point). The additive can then be added to prevent further waxing issues.

WINTER GRADE GAS OIL should be available around the second week of November.

Dates to be confirmed.
